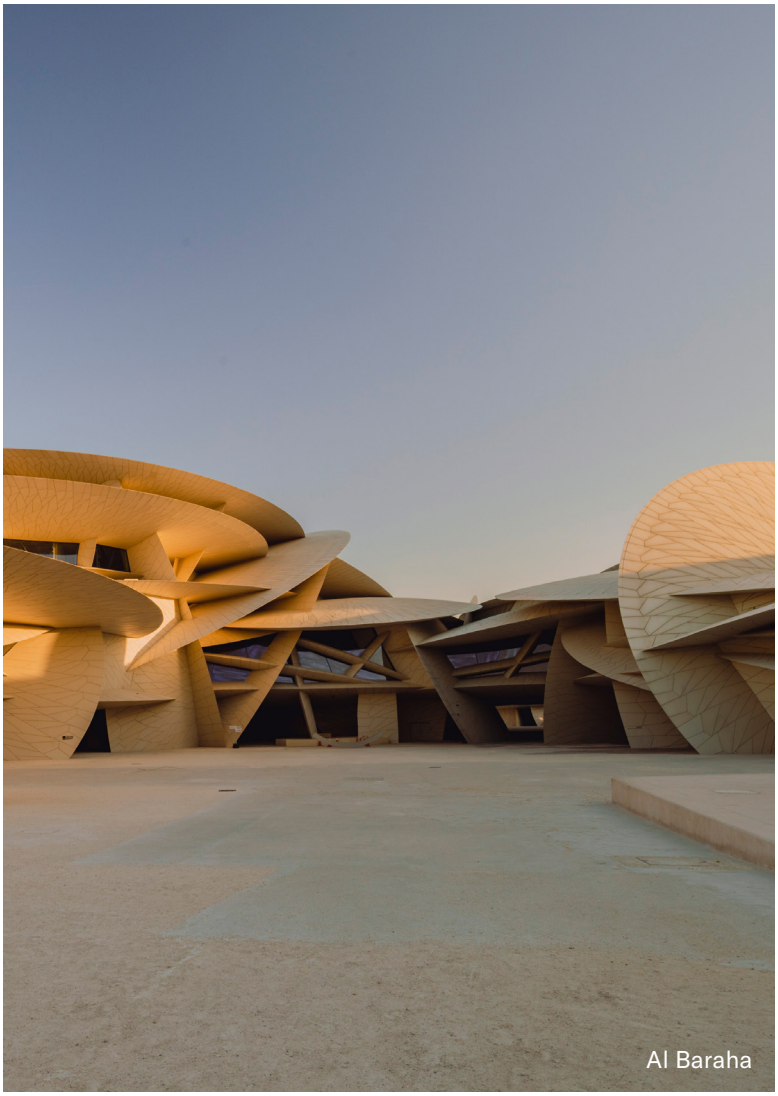
Venue Factsheet



Al Baraha

The Old Palace

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF QATAR

NMoQ is dedicated to bringing to life the unique story of Qatar and its people, tracing the nation's journey from its geological origins through to the present day. Designed by Jean Nouvel and inspired by the desert rose, the building's interlocking discs make it one of the most recognisable landmarks in the region. Inside, a sequence of immersive galleries unfolds as a chronological narrative, combining objects, film, sound and scenography to explore Qatar's natural history, cultural heritage and contemporary identity.

Large Board Room

Against this narrative backdrop, a collection of over 17,000 square meters of purpose-built event spaces is integrated throughout the museum. The expansive ground-floor Atrium, with sweeping curves and filtered natural light, provides a striking environment for gala dinners and formal receptions for up to 600 people. The tiered Auditorium (Darwin Al Far Theatre) offers advanced audiovisual capabilities ideal for conferences, premieres and keynote addresses, while dedicated large and small board rooms provide fully equipped spaces for executive sessions and smaller functions.

At the heart of the museum stands the Old Palace, originally the residence of Sheikh Abdullah bin Jassim Al Thani. Preserved as a historic landmark, it brings a sense of depth and ceremony to receptions and banquets. Al Baraha, the central open-air courtyard and site of Ahmed Albahrani's The Flag of Glory, accommodates large-scale gatherings beneath the open sky. Along the lagoon's edge, The Alfa Lagoon, named after Jean-Michel Othoniel's installation, offers a waterfront terrace setting for evening events.

As with all QM venues, each occasion at the National Museum of Qatar is supported by QC+ Hospitality's dedicated events team, ensuring delivery with meticulous attention and care.
